Why Karlshochschule?

Karlshochschule, or as the locals call it, The Karls, is situated in Karlsruhe, the second-largest city in the state of Baden-Württemberg, located in southwest Germany near the French-German border. Karlsruhe is the seat of the two highest courts in Germany. The city is also famous for its extravagant architecture, with their most remarkable building being the Karlsruhe Palace, which was built during the city's founding in 1715. Other city highlights include the Museum of Natural History, Zoo Karlsruhe, the botanical gardens, and a wide variety of world-renowned eateries. Whether you are interested in world history, politics, architecture, or simply exploring a new city, Karlshochschule is the place for you!
