Commitment

CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE

Commitment

It is with great pleasure that we recognize in this donor report the many committed donors who provided financial support to Chestnut Hill College this past year, helping the College to maintain its mission as a Catholic liberal arts institution.

It's much easier to make and keep a commitment when we deeply believe that our investment in time and attention will pay off in a big way. In this report, six donors share their personal stories of why they are committed to supporting Chestnut Hill College.

With the support of loyal alumni and friends such as you, we will continue the proud work of building Chestnut Hill College into an even more outstanding place of higher learning than it is today. Your unflinching generosity profoundly affects the lives of our students and, indeed, the larger world as well. We are deeply grateful to each of you.

MISSION STATEMENT

13 DONOR REPORT

CONTENTS

THE MISSION OF CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE IS TO PROVIDE STUDENTS WITH HOLISTIC EDUCATION IN AN INCLUSIVE CATHOLIC COMMUNITY MARKED BY ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE, SHARED RESPONSIBILITY, PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL GROWTH, SERVICE TO ONE ANOTHER AND TO THE GLOBAL COMMUNITY, AND CONCERN FOR THE EARTH.

Chestnut Hill College, founded by the Sisters of Saint Joseph in 1924, is an independent, Catholic institution that fosters equality through education. Faithful to its strong liberal arts tradition, Chestnut Hill College offers academic programs of excellence in the areas of undergraduate, graduate, and continuing studies.

True to its Catholic heritage, Chestnut Hill College espouses the beliefs and values inherent in the Judeo-Christian tradition while it respects the contributions made by other faith traditions in the development of the whole person. The College nurtures a sense of integrity, spirituality, and social justice in all.

The College community dedicates itself to four purposes in fulfilling this mission. It seeks:

- to provide avenues for students to achieve academic excellence and to pursue research in their major field or in interdisciplinary studies. The College encourages students to explore and experience diverse curricula and to participate in exchange programs with other institutions of higher education.
- to initiate links between the world of learning and the world of work through curricular planning, technological opportunities, and career preparation. The College guides students in applying theoretical learning through experiential education designed collaboratively by faculty and students.
- to uphold an atmosphere of communal respect in which all may clarify and articulate personal values and beliefs while exploring the ethical and moral dimensions underlying all relationships. The College encourages inter-faith opportunities by acquainting all students with Catholicism, its theology and its Judeo-Christian roots, and by engaging in dialogue with women and men of other beliefs.
- to create local and global connections that enable students to respond to the needs of others through service-oriented enterprises. The College educates students to identify and to address issues of social justice and to work toward systemic change.

MY DEAR FRIENDS AND BENEFACTORS OF CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE,

as we welcomed a larger number of new students than anticipated. This result is especially noteworthy in a year when institutions throughout the country were adversely affected by declining numbers of high school graduates.

Our new students hail from all over the United States and abroad. Internationally, they come from Saudi Arabia, Nigeria, France, Mexico, Canada, The United Kingdom, Montenegro, China, Germany, and Brazil. From across the nation, we welcomed students from 13 different states — the staples such as PA, NJ, NY, and DEL, as well as VA, NC, CA, OH, FL, GA, KS, NH, and TX.

While there are many differences and disconnects between students today and yesterday, there are also many similarities and connections. They still fall in love with our campus and grand old buildings. They appreciate the warmth and friendliness of students, faculty, and staff. Some are already launched in the direction of a career and others are still wondering which road to take. They enjoy clubs, service projects, dramatic and musical performances, athletics, holidays, and Christmas decorating night, just as students did in the past. And like students from years ago, they have dreams of who they want to be and hopes for a better world. You would like them. They are friendly and energetic young women and men who give us reason to believe in the future that is theirs. The future in which you have generously invested as donors to Chestnut Hill College.

It is said that people give for reasons of the heart. As I have reflected on the subject of giving and what motivates generosity, it occurs to me that one of the prime reasons, if not the paramount reason, that people give is because they are thankful for what they have received. Philanthropists and donors are women and men with grateful hearts. They appreciate what their talents, hard work, good fortune, and/or birthright have provided them. In looking at the plight of people around the world, they ask themselves the question, “why am I so fortunate?”

Often, I ask myself, why was I lucky enough to be born in the United States to a family that could provide for all of my needs and even many of my wants. Why have I never had to know hunger, been without a home, been without clothes, been without money, been without love, been without a solid education? Why have I been so well taken care of?

When we ponder questions such as these, we cannot help but desire to assist those who have less than we do. It is our gratitude, the fullness of our hearts that compels us to reach beyond ourselves and give from our abundance, or our adequacy, or even from our want.

When I am leaving the office in the evening, students in our School of Continuing & Professional Studies (SCPS) are arriving on campus. Many of them are in challenging financial situations. Now when one asks a routine question, one expects a routine answer. One evening I was leaving the building and greeted an SCPS student by asking how she was. She paused, looked at me, and said thoughtfully, “I am blessed.” I was drawn up short by this unexpected reply. Long after I left the building, I was still pondering the extraordinary answer to my routine question asking what quality of person sees herself in such a light. Since that encounter, I never ask “how someone is” without hearing her answer. This morning, as I ask myself how I feel, my only thought is that I am blessed; blessed in each and every one of you and the good you do for our College community.

Your investment in the College supports all of our students in a variety of ways. Contributions to the Griffin Fund augment the College’s operating budget and thereby provide financial assistance for students who need additional funding in order to attend college. As you know, more and more students are increasingly unable to afford to pay for their education.

College activities from clubs to the music program to the yearbook, newspaper, and literary magazine are supported by your generosity. Athletics benefits from your dollars as does the academic program of the College which includes the curriculum, supplies for classrooms and laboratories, and faculty development. Improvements to the physical plant are possible because of gifts received. There is no area of campus life that your contributions do not enhance. We are grateful for your gifts and better operate the College because of your thoughtfulness.

Your financial commitment to the ASPIRE. BELIEVE. COMMIT. campaign also ensures the future of our College and that of its students. During the silent phase of the campaign, the goals were to provide student life and social spaces necessary to sustain the undergraduate population and to make the necessary renovations to the SugarLoaf Hill campus. Since 2008, we raised more than $37 million in cash, commitments, and bequests. These gifts, grants, bequests, and pledges have afforded us the ability to fund the complete restoration of the Commonwealth Chateau, Loyola Lodge, the pool, and the pool house on SugarLoaf.

New and restored facilities on campus include the Jack and Rosemary Murphy Gulati '61 complex, featuring a state-of-the-art fitness center, the Michael and Margaret Carney McCaffery '77 Lounge, a student lounge and meeting space, and a landscaped piazza connecting the outside spaces.

In addition to the physical campus improvements, funds were also raised or committed in support of various aspects of our academic programs such as new and existing endowed scholarships and awards.

As we continue into the public phase of our comprehensive campaign, academic space for our student population and increasing the College's endowment will be the focus.

Like every successful institution, Chestnut Hill College must be able to adapt, grow, and prepare for the future. Educational spaces that are flexible, adaptable, and incorporate technology are important to support multiple new and traditional formats for learning. Our second goal, to increase the College's endowment, will serve to strengthen the long-term financial stability and the stature of the College and our rankings.

To ensure the future excellence of Chestnut Hill College, we must continue to increase efforts to attract gifted students and faculty; provide more financial aid and scholarship support; enhance teaching and research facilities; prepare graduates for success in the professions and advanced study; and cultivate the next generation of college students. Chestnut Hill College has changed in many ways over the years, but our founding story continues to inspire the pursuit of excellence.

Writer C.S. Lewis noted, "The proper aim of giving is to put recipients in a state where they no longer need our gifts." Your gifts to Chestnut Hill College put our students in such a state by helping to create a stimulating, life changing campus environment that prepares students to live personal and professional lives that are meaningful and productive — for that, we are grateful.

With heartfelt thanks,

Carol Jean Vale, SSJ

Sister Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D.

President

DEAR FRIENDS OF CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE,

AS A 1977 GRADUATE OF CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE, I AM EXTREMELY

excited about and proud of the growth at my alma mater over the past decade. The College has brought transformative change — going coed, moving to NCAA Division II athletics with 18 women’s and men’s varsity teams, and expanding campus to include 30 acres at Sugarloaf Hill — while strengthening the commitment to its legacy.

The College continues to balance a first-rate academic program with 35 areas of study and outstanding faculty with its mission of serving others and forming life-long relationships. It offers enriching experiences to its community each and every day while strengthening its financial vitality for the future. The theme of NOW...IS OUR TIME is most fitting.

Last October at the Barnes Foundation, we celebrated the public announcement of ASPIRE.BELIEVE.COMMIT. The Campaign for Chestnut Hill College, with Sister Carol and I expressing our excitement and commitment to advancing the goals of CHC.

Like any successful liberal arts institution, the College must continue to adapt and expand its academic programs; respond to the needs of our growing undergraduate, graduate, and continuing studies populations; retain and recruit the finest faculty and staff; and strengthen our long-term financial stability. We have a unique opportunity to serve a generation of students looking for a Catholic liberal arts education in a supportive family atmosphere — one committed to preparing them not just to make a living but “learn how to live.”

Since 2008, we have raised more than $37 million in cash, commitments, and bequests toward our campaign goal of $55 million.

I am deeply grateful for your loyal and generous support of the College. Whether you are an alumnus, a parent or family member, a friend or neighbor, your support affirms your commitment to our mission.

My participation and involvement on the board of directors of the College for the past eight years has raised my awareness of the tremendous dedication of the Sisters of Saint Joseph and the challenges of building upon an institution during these difficult economic times. But I am extremely confident in the expertise of our board members, and I extend a special thank you to each of them for sharing their time, talents, and financial support of the College.

My husband, Michael, and I made a conscious decision to make a difference and give back to the institution that has influenced my life as a woman, a wife, mother, and educator. I thank you for your continued and steadfast financial support of the College.

Over the past 10 years, we have been witness to the transformational changes that have brought us to where we are today.

Join us and encourage everyone in our extended Chestnut Hill College family to do the same, for NOW IS OUR TIME!

Sincerely,

Margaret Carney McCaffery '77

Caritas is one of the three core values in Chestnut Hill College's motto - Fides - Caritas - Scientia (Faith, Charity, Knowledge).

The Caritas Society recognizes alumni and friends who have contributed or made irrevocable gifts of at least $500,000 in cumulative lifetime giving. Chestnut Hill College is most grateful to these donors for the transformative impact their gifts have on the College, its students and faculty.

WITHOUT THE SUPPORT OF THE MAGUIRE FOUNDATION, SUNAINA GOHIL '16 MIGHT NOT BE AT THE COLLEGE.

And without the College, she might not have become her best self.

'A Lifeline

FOR STUDENTS AND FAMILIES IN NEED'

"Each day that I'm here, I awaken with a smile on my face and an appreciation for the life I have been given."

Born into an Indian family that moved to the U.S. in the 1970s, Sunaina faced a cultural learning curve and felt lost in the crowd at her 4,000-student high school. At the College, however, she relishes the close-knit community and personal attention.

"I am eternally grateful that through your generosity and kindness, I have the opportunity to develop into myself at CHC," she wrote to foundation co-principals James and Frances Maguire. "Each day that I'm here, I awaken with a smile on my face and an appreciation for the life I have been given."

Sunaina benefits from the Maguire Scholars program, which provides students from Catholic institutions with yearly scholarships of up to $25,000.

"Education is the great equalizer," said Amy T. Holdsmen, the foundation's executive director, "and this program is a lifeline for students and families in need."

The foundation pledged $600,000 to the College, which will provide scholarships to four more students beginning this year.

It requires them to remain in good academic standing, participate in extracurricular and community activities, and undergo weekly academic advising/counseling to ensure a smooth transition to higher education.

The foundation's mission is grounded in the St. Ignatius of Loyola ethic of being men and women for others, stressing education as the path to "believe what you are and become what you believe."

A Korean War veteran, James Maguire transformed a small insurance agency into a multibillion dollar, publicly traded company with approximately 50 offices and 1,600 employees.

Frances assisted with the business while pursuing art and gardening and serving on the boards of institutions such as Woodmere Art Museum, Gwynedd Mercy University, and Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts.

The long-time Chestnut Hill residents have been loyal supporters of the College and the Sisters of Saint Joseph, who educated their children at Norwood-Fontbonne Academy and cared for James' dying mother at the Villa. While awarding the Maguires honorary Doctor of Laws degrees in 2007, the College noted their instrumental role in acquiring and developing SugarLoaf, for which Frances' "artist vision" saw the benefits to not just the College community but the ecosystem of gardens and woodlands along the Wissahickon.

In her first year, Sunaina embodied the Maguire Scholars vision, excelling in biology as part of the interdisciplinary honors program while coming into her own as a person. In April, she attended a luncheon that gave all of the scholars a chance to meet and thank the Maguires. But this time, Sunaina wasn't lost in the crowd.

"I actually remember her the most," Holdsmen said. "She was so lovely, and so very grateful."

Visit www.maguirefoundation.org for more information.

In April, scholarship beneficiary Sunaina Gohil '16 (below) thanked James and Frances Maguire for their generosity.

The Griffin Fund

Gifts to The Griffin Fund each year are the cornerstone of Chestnut Hill College's giving program in support of annual unrestricted operations. The generous financial support of these donors is critical to the success of each academic year.

Donor names listed in this Donor Report reflect the donor's total contribution, for all purposes, received by the College between July 1, 2012 and June 30, 2013.

Donor List Designations

A	Chestnut Hill College Administration
D	Chestnut Hill College Board of Director
AD	Chestnut Hill College Alumni Association Board of Director
F	Chestnut Hill College Faculty
S	Chestnut Hill College Staff
SUS	School of Undergraduate Studies
SCPS	School of Continuing & Professional Studies
SGS	School of Graduate Studies
*	Deceased
	Griffin Fund (a portion of the donor's gift was designated to the Griffin Fund)

Donor names that are bolded indicate 10+ years of consecutive giving to the College.

All matching gifts were included in the donor's giving totals.

HALLMARK SOCIETY

Members of the Hallmark Society have expressed their commitment to Chestnut Hill College through a very special and important form of financial support. These donors have named the College as the ultimate beneficiary of a planned gift.

Such gifts might include a bequest and/or charitable income gifts, such as charitable gift annuities, charitable remainder unitrusts, charitable remainder annuity trusts, or gifts of life insurance.

An Investment

OF MIND, BODY, AND SPIRIT

“We felt so blessed to be a part of this magnificent moment in the College’s history.”

IT DIDN'T TAKE LONG FOR RYAN AND KRISTA MURPHY TO FEEL A CONNECTION TO THE COLLEGE.

Right from day one, they felt a part of an extended family that genuinely cared about them and the work they did. Then, the College community gathered in Sorgenti Arena to celebrate the SugarLoaf acquisition, and the Murphys marveled at the sense of common purpose.

“It was really special, like nothing I had experienced on a campus before,” Krista said. “We felt so blessed to be a part of this magnificent moment in the College’s history.”

That moment inspired the Murphys to make a donation to the College in honor of their wedding guests, rather than the traditional favors, which they’ve followed with consistent support of the Griffin Fund.

“We wanted to, in our own small way, express how committed to the College we are,” Ryan said. “To not just say that or collect a paycheck but to be invested — mind, body, and spirit — in the success of the institution and our students’ lives.”

“We knew our dollars would make an impact here,” Krista added, “and that giving to other places wouldn’t feel as personal or meaningful.”

Ryan and Krista are integral members of the community as director of service-learning and dean of student life, respectively. They both work closely with students and relish the opportunity to guide them through pivotal moments.

“They’re not always fun moments,” Krista said with a smile, “but even the tough times just make us want to work harder to give them great experiences.”

Indeed, the College’s mission of being inclusive and serving the underserved resonates with the Murphys, in both their day-to-day and larger perspectives.

“It’s the feeling of working for something larger than me,” Ryan said. “The mission inspires the work I do and how I want to live my life.”

“The College and the Sisters have given us so much,” Krista added, “which makes us want to give back.”

The Murphys recently affirmed that with a significant contribution to the Aspire. Believe. Commit. comprehensive campaign, for which the College seeks to raise funds to enhance the academic and social experience for all students.

William “Liam” Ignatius Murphy, whom the couple welcomed in May, may well be one of them.

“This is where we envision him going to school,” Ryan said, “which makes everything feel that much more real.”

Ryan and Krista Murphy welcomed William “Liam” Ignatius Murphy in May.

*ASPIRE. BELIEVE.

COMPREHENSIVE CAMPAIGN

Rolls Out in Style

We thank our donors who are making the Aspire. Believe. Commit. comprehensive campaign a priority in their philanthropic lives. These early donors of gifts and pledges can be proud of their multiple accomplishments now visible across our campus.

The public phase of Chestnut Hill College's Aspire. Believe. Commit. campaign launched on September 15, 2012 at a gala celebration in one of the art world's most celebrated new venues, the Barnes Foundation, which graces the Benjamin Franklin Parkway in Center City Philadelphia.

Led by campaign co-chairs Margaret Carney McCaffery '77 (early childhood education) and Jack and Rosemary Murphy Gulati '61 (English), the campaign has generated $37.8 million in gifts and pledges during the quiet phase from 2008 and the first portion of the public phase through June 30, 2013. These charitable gifts from alumni, parents, friends, businesses, foundations, and government agencies have created student life enhancements and expanded social spaces that are vital to sustaining an undergraduate and adult student population in a highly competitive recruitment and retention market.

Through inspired, adaptive re-use of existing space, students now work out in an attractive bi-level fitness center carved from the "old gym" and enjoy a comfort and camaraderie in the former Fournier Hall Social Room, now McCaffery Lounge — two elements of the Gulati Complex. They also now live in a residence hall transformed from converted conference center housing on the restored and beautified SugarLoaf Hill campus. Elegant income-generating public spaces join attractive seminar rooms in the Commonwealth Chateau located on that side of the campus, as well.

PRODUCING RESULTS

CHC Voices on Faculty, Facilities, and Finances
Influencing Their Future

WHAT AN OPPORTUNITY!

"My education at Chestnut Hill is continuously providing me with the tools to succeed in the sciences. Last summer, I was fortunate enough to be one of eight students selected from around 200 applicants for the National Science Foundation's Summer Research Experiences for Undergraduates Program held at Xavier University in New Orleans. For about three months, we researched a particular DNA sequence called Long Interspersed Element-1. This experience is one of the highlights of my college career, and I'm grateful to my professors for suggesting this research program to me and for supporting me with letters of recommendation."

Jason Scott Wasserman '16 (biology/biological sciences) back home in the CHC molecular biology lab explains how to amplify a piece of DNA to produce multiple copies of a DNA sequence by using a PCR thermocycler.

WHAT A TERRIFIC PLACE!

“When we were freshmen, our dorms were the place we all got together. Now, with this McCaffery Lounge, we have special space to do our work by the fireplace and more places to be with other groups than we had in the dorm. We’re able to see more people, and we basically now have a social meeting spot to catch up with people from all classes, not just our own. It’s great, a great place to work on projects together, to have a snack, and to just hang out!”

Jennifer Golding '15 (history), Trevor Phelps '14 (marketing), and Chris Shriver '15 (computer and information technology) appreciating the transformed Fournier Social Room. Trevor's legacy connections include many members of the Bennis-Degnan families, including his mother, Mary Degnan Phelps '76 (French); his great-aunt, the late Sister Ann Edward Bennis, SSJ, M.A., professor of English; and grandmother Madeleine Bennis Degnan '42 (fine arts), who celebrated her 70th reunion in June 2012.

In addition to focusing campaign priorities on essential campus upgrades, donors to Aspire. Believe. Commit. have contributed gifts and pledges, including age-eligible bequest intentions, totaling $5.7 million specifically designated for the College endowment.

Our graduates tell us in countless conversations, surveys, and additional opinion-gathering media how much they value academics above all other aspects of the total CHC experience. Aspire. Believe. Commit. speaks to this priority as it moves into its next phase, one set squarely on two goals: building academic assets and bolstering financial vitality.

Through the duration of this campaign, primary attention will center on the amount, size, and configuration of academic space needed to accommodate a growing student population, to support the particular needs of existing and transformational academic programs, and to enhance the opportunity for faculty and students to engage in rigorous and innovative teaching and learning. Companion to this priority is the goal of strengthening the College's financial position to introduce exciting programs and academic experiences when optimum, to respond to opportunities of multiple dimensions when presented, and to weather economic fluctuations when they occur.

Chestnut Hill's campus is blessed with breathtaking vistas, sloping lawns, and striking architecture, dominated at its entrance by the century-old, six-story, turreted St. Joseph Hall (1903). Science labs greatly updated from a major renovation there, 20 years ago, today are bursting with an unprecedented number of declared science majors and students from other disciplines, all challenging the space and enviable research instrumentation used every day. Classrooms in Fournier Hall's (1929) Clement Hall wing, fondly recalled for faculty and courses associated with them, revel in their period charm while exhibiting technology and other upgrades added here and there throughout the years ... to keep pace. What was once considered the new, large Logue Library (1962) must be recognized for the 50-year-old building that it is, distinguished by the expansive open Alumnae Reading Room so representative of that period but not necessarily ideal for today's education-to-career demands.

As Aspire. Believe. Commit. moves forward with gift solicitations conducted throughout the broader College donor base, plans will unfold regarding proposed use, re-use, and configuration of existing space and new space. Prudent use of funds will improve on what the College already claims in remarkable physical assets. Prudent use of funds will produce the appropriate academic setting that inspires unique methods of teaching; new forms of learning; ample opportunities for faculty-student engagement; additional labs for student and faculty research; defined areas for group and individual study; and suitable amenities, facilities, and technology for resident students, commuter students, visiting students, virtual students, and students who arrive after 5 p.m., following a full day's work. Simulation labs, large and small seminar rooms, modular research bays, and nooks for solitary study or for study groups are only a few constructs that other institutions have found productive in supporting their curriculum-driven space needs that could be considered for programs across the curriculum at the baccalaureate and advanced degree levels.

Prudent use of funds also implies the need for additional and increased dollars for annual operations — the Griffin Fund checkbook that fuels the daily functioning of the College. The Aspire. Believe. Commit. comprehensive campaign looks to increase both the total funds raised each year and alumni class participation rates, all directed at empowering the life of the mind through challenging academic programs and internships, scholarship grants for academically deserving students, and other exciting academic-driven endeavors.

Aspire. Believe. Commit. — much has been achieved ... much remains to be accomplished ... much promises to be celebrated.

For questions regarding the Aspire. Believe. Commit. comprehensive campaign, contact Patricia Canning, senior director of development, at 215.248.7144 or canningp@chc.edu.

WHAT PERSONAL ATTENTION!

“I was also accepted at some larger colleges, but I’m glad I came to Chestnut Hill. The size is perfect for me. My classes aren’t any larger than 11 or 12, and I can interact with my professors really easily. I’m planning to go on to grad school in finance, especially after spending the summer in Germany on an internship at the University of Bonn, where I worked on testing the efficiency of the renewable energy program at each of the university campuses.”

First baseman, catcher, and outfielder Joseph Mullin '14 (international business, language and culture) conducted his Senior Seminar research on the American and German banking systems.

WHAT AN EYE-OPENER!

“In American Foreign Policy, we simulated a meeting of the United States National Security Council. We were challenged to respond to a hypothetical foreign policy crisis based on real-life events happening in the East China Sea and the South China Sea, areas that continue to grow in world significance. The simulation gave our class an idea of what it’s like to be faced with the daunting decisions these officials must make on a regular basis as members of the NSC. This was an experience everyone in our class valued. We went at this with great preparation and intensity.”

Aizaz Gill '14 (political science), who emigrated from Pakistan in 2002 and in the role of the Vice President, offering an important insight on the crisis, as Danielle McDermond '15 (political science), in the role of Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, considers the military implications for U.S. policy.

ASPIRE. BELIEVE. COMMIT. CAMPAIGN GIFTS AND PLEDGES

Donors recognized on this list include those who have made:

- Campaign gifts of any size since the public phase launched in September 2012
- Pledges and gifts of at least $10,000 during the campaign silent phase (July 2008-September 2012)
- Pledges and gifts of at least $10,000 for SugarLoaf Hill renovations during the campaign nucleus phase (July 2006-June 2008)
- Estate bequests, if over the age of 70

A comprehensive list of all donors of gifts and pledges of any size will be celebrated at the conclusion of the Aspire. Believe. Commit. campaign.

WHAT PREPARATION!

“I really didn’t plan to move into this field, but my undergraduate foundation at Chestnut Hill was right on target for this newer field of computational biology. It’s also referred to as bioinformatics because it integrates biology, computer science, mathematical modeling, and statistics to solve data-heavy biological problems. Major teaching hospitals are among leaders in this area, as are pharmaceutical companies, as they look more and more to developing personalized medicine and examining pharmacogenomics. And I wasn’t even a biology major at CHC!”

Maureen Stolzer '04 (computer and mathematical sciences); dual degrees: Ph.D., biology, and M.Sc., machine learning, Carnegie-Mellon University, August 2011; during a visit to CHC in September and describing the paper she presented at an international conference on the mathematical model she developed to infer how changes in gene content arise.

Redmond Foundation Upholds SISTER'S LEGACY

“Train students to independence, give them the best of a liberal arts education, and open their minds to the world around them.”

Sister Catharine (third from left) began the tradition of Family Day, which she presided over with Mrs. George Porreca, Mrs. Stanley Duckworth, and Henry Schmidt in 1962.

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENCY OF SISTER MARIA

Kostka Logue was a tough act to follow, to say the least. But Sister Catharine Frances Redmond, Ph.D., proved a fitting successor.

As Sister Mary Helen Kashuba, DML, notes in Tradition & Risk, the leaders followed the same philosophy: “Train students to independence, give them the best of a liberal arts education, and open their minds to the world around them.”

As president from 1954 to 1968, Sister Catharine presided over the construction of Fontbonne Hall and Logue Library and guided the College through the turbulent late sixties. She left an impressive legacy, one that is upheld today by the support of the John C. and Kathryn S. Redmond Foundation.

Begun by Sister Catharine’s brother, John C. Redmond, Jr. — a highly successful manufacturing engineer and executive and a longtime Flourtown resident — the foundation has donated more than $500,000 to the College across several decades. In the early 1980s, it created a four-year scholarship in honor of John’s parents, as well as a scholarship geared to middle-income families.

“My feeling is that a needy family has many avenues of help available, but the middle-income family is in a perpetual financial squeeze,” he wrote. “This is the family we want to help.”

Now managed by John’s son, John III, the foundation remains a steadfast supporter of the College and a member of the President’s Circle.

Its support of two capital gift initiatives helped to realize projects such as Martino Hall, the first new building on campus in more than 40 years, whose second floor features The Redmond Foundation Classroom.

“We hope God will bless you with the good health and continued wisdom to carry out all of your worthwhile projects,” John C. Redmond III wrote in a recent letter to College President Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D.

The legacy of Sister Catharine carries on tangibly, as well. The College re-named the West Parlor of St. Joseph Hall the Redmond Room in her honor in the early 1970s, and a plaque bearing her name greets visitors to Martino Hall.

Sister Catharine “exemplified for her students the ideals with which she sought to inspire them,” the Alumnae Bulletin noted upon her departure. “Particularly, the philosophy that a woman’s life is one of loving service to her God, to herself, to her family, and to all whom her life touches.”

Through its unwavering support of education, the Redmond Foundation continues to touch the lives of countless men and women.

REUNION GIVING FUND

JULY 1, 2012 - JUNE 30, 2013

13 DONOR REPORT

EVERY FIVE YEARS, ALUMNI ARE ASKED TO CONSIDER A special gift to honor their memories of Chestnut Hill College and each other. For some, it is to increase their most recent gift, and for others, it is to make a special gift for the first time.

Reunion year alumni are invited to choose from a variety of options that reflect their interest in specific needs of the College. These options include:

- The Griffin Fund – essential unrestricted support for day-to-day operations.
- Endowment – restricted gifts for student scholarships; academic programs.
- Other Gift Designations – such as student life, campus ministry, athletics, counseling center, Logue Library, special class funds, or specific department programs.

All Reunion class gifts received from July 1, 2012 through June 30, 2013 are counted toward the total dollars each class raises and toward their respective class participation rate.

IN THE MID 1960S, THE FIELD OF ENGINEERING WAS ALL BUT CLOSED TO WOMEN.

So when New Jersey Bell Telephone Company announced plans to hire three female engineers, Shelley Sprague Guerard '66 fired off a letter.

Trailblazing Alumna and Husband Give Back

“It’s important to give back so that other people can have some of the same life-preparing experiences that I had.”

Shelley and Robert Sprague Guerard '66.

“I received a call the very next day,” she said, “but I figured it was someone playing a joke.”

Shelley got the job and excelled as the company shifted to Bell Atlantic and, finally, Verizon. She was the first female district operations manager, then the first to run operator services for the state of New Jersey, then a vice president responsible for the company’s “Y2K” preparedness and 9-1-1 equipment.

Shelley credits the College and the Sisters of Saint Joseph for giving her the confidence and competence to blaze a trail, and she deeply appreciates their efforts to procure financial aid to bridge a difficult time for her family.

For these reasons, Shelley and her husband of 42 years, Robert, are steadfast supporters of the College. They are annual supporters of the Griffin Fund, for which they take advantage of Verizon’s matching gifts program, and members of the Hallmark Society.

“It’s important to give back so that other people can have some of the same life-preparing experiences that I had,” Shelley said.

Her familiarity with the Sisters of Saint Joseph at her high school, St. Rose in Belmar, N.J., made the College a “natural extension.” Shelley relished the camaraderie with her classmates — which continues to this day — and enjoyed being one of just seven mathematics majors. She also seized extracurricular opportunities, such as serving as the business manager of the Aurelian.

Above all, Shelley appreciates the high caliber of education she received. She briefly taught math at Lehigh University, where she impressed professors with the techniques she learned at the College.

“I quickly realized I was well prepared,” she said.

The College’s emphasis on forming whole persons also prepared her to give back through volunteer work. She recently served two years as president of Martin Health System Auxiliary, which has nominated her several times for the “Women of Distinction” award in the volunteer category that is presented by the international volunteer organization Soroptimist.

Although Shelley resides in Florida, she keeps close tabs on the College and serves as class president. She is thrilled with the return of the mathematics major and the introduction of the digital forensics program and, thanks to the leadership of College President Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D., she is assured of the College’s ability to navigate the future.

“The College is very lucky to have Sister Carol,” she said. “She could be the CEO of a company.”

“Community service, spiritual growth, and commitment to family.”

Alumna and Husband Dedicated TO CATHOLIC EDUCATION

Jacques Moore, Kathleen Matthews, Blanche Haviland Moore '50, and broadcaster Chris Matthews at the College's 80th Anniversary Gala in 2005.

DECADES OF SERVICE TO AND SUPPORT OF THE College from Jacques and Blanche Haviland Moore '50 trace back to a chance encounter in her senior year.

Attending mission-night activities on the eve of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception with a friend, Blanche met two young men from La Salle University in the day-hop lounge.

“Jack’s friend was dating my friend, and they introduced us. But wouldn’t you know it, I already had a date for that night,” Blanche recalled, laughing. “But Jack was persistent. He kept calling, and finally we got together.”

Fifty years later, the Moores returned to campus to accept honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, in recognition of their “dedication to the values that a Chestnut Hill education emphasizes: community service, spiritual growth, and commitment to family.”

The Sisters of Saint Joseph guided Blanche all the way through Little Flower Catholic High School. With a plan to study medicine and a love of music, Blanche then came to the Hill. She credits the Sisters with giving her the tools to excel in the laboratory as well as the freedom to perform in a singing group and the opera La Traviata.

“I ended up with a bachelor of arts in chemistry, if you can believe it,” she said. “A marriage of my two loves.”

After graduation, Blanche attended Women’s Medical College and worked as a research pharmacologist at McNeil Laboratories for two years. Her focus then turned to family, raising two children while Jacques started a Cadillac dealership that became highly successful.

The Moores’ commitment to Catholic education never wavered. They have served the boards of a variety of institutions, such as Catholic University, Mount St. Mary’s University, The Pontifical North American College in Rome, and, most recently, Catholic Distance University.

In 2005, they received the National Catholic Education Association’s highest honor, the Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton Award, for their commitment to the schools and parishes in the Arlington, Va., diocese and beyond.

College President Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D., hailed them as “visionary leaders in Catholic higher education.”

The Moores have supported the College steadily as well, making significant contributions to its funds and campaigns. Blanche served in leadership positions for the Alumni Association and attended all but one class reunion.

Her enduring connection to the Hill is perhaps best captured in her own words from a 1974 alumnae survey: “The example and dedication of the SSJ at Chestnut Hill to a life spent in pursuit of spiritual and intellectual perfection through love and patient perseverance had a profound influence on my life as a Catholic woman, wife, and mother.”

BERNARD RAFFERTY DIDN'T ATTEND THE SCHOOL WHERE HIS SISTER, GRACE MARGARET, SSJ, ADMINISTERED DISCIPLINE. BUT HE MAY AS WELL HAVE.

“The nuns were always kidding me: ‘You get yourself in trouble and we’ll call your sister over,’” Rafferty said, laughing. “They revered her work ethic and sternness. ‘Here comes Gracie, watch out!’”

Friends' Support Honors MEMORY OF SISTER

The Raffertys' support honors the memory of Grace Margaret, SSJ.

But Sister Grace had a soft side and, well, grace toward her family.

“My mother held her up with the angels, and she chose her to be my godmother,” Rafferty said. “She was just a wonderful person.”

Sister Grace was drawn to the Sisters of Saint Joseph from a young age. Her father insisted that she gain professional experience first, so she worked for the U.S. Department of Agriculture during the New Deal. But as soon as she turned 21, Sister Grace came home to join the order.

She parlayed an education degree into the disciplinarian role at Archbishop Prendergast before joining the College in the 1960s. She served for decades as school registrar and archivist, among other responsibilities, and earned the highest esteem of the SSJ and College community. And she cherished every minute of it.

“She absolutely loved the College and was completely dedicated to that community and God,” Rafferty said.

To honor that dedication and the memory of his sister, Rafferty and his wife, Joan, are steadfast supporters of the College as members of the Hallmark Society. Their support also reflects the value they place on Catholic education.

Rafferty served in the Army during World War II as a paratrooper and intelligence agent before going to work for the multinational corporation Colgate-Palmolive, where he stayed for nearly 50 years and ascended to vice president. He and Joan raised five successful children — executives and public servants and All-Americans among them — in whom they instilled the ethic of service to others.

Throughout their 64 years of marriage, the Raffertys have earned recognition and honors from Catholic officials across the globe, such as inclusion in the Knights and Dames of Malta. Their service to the church includes regular visits to Lourdes, France to assist needy parishioners hoping for miracles, conducting marriage-counseling sessions in Chicago at the request of Cardinal Edward Egan, and running a Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) program for their home parish in Connecticut.

Rafferty ascribes his zest for Catholic service to his mother and father, who told him, “Always remember that if god gives you success, he expects you to pass it on.”

“Well, the good lord has been very good to us,” he said. “Now, we’re doing our part.”

SUPPORTING THE FUTURE OF CHC

The needs of a private college in today's world are many. As a small Catholic institution dedicated to teaching and the liberal arts, Chestnut Hill College is largely tuition driven. Although tuition for undergraduates at Chestnut Hill College exceeds $30,000, it provides only 70 percent of the real cost of educating a student. To maintain its tradition of excellence in education, Chestnut Hill College is grateful for your generous contributions since the College receives no financial assistance from the Catholic Church or the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, and funding from state or federal agencies is given only for specific projects or programs. Contributions from you to any of the designations listed below are investments in the College's future and help ensure that a Chestnut Hill College education will be available for future generations.

DESIGNATING YOUR GIFT

A GIFT TO THE GRIFFIN FUND

These gifts are used to supplement the general operating budget by providing assistance with everything from library acquisitions and faculty salaries to utilities and instructional supplies. This fund is critical to the day-to-day operations of the College.

A GIFT TO THE ENDOWMENT

Contributions to the College's endowment are invested and only the income from the earned interest is used each year. You can make a designated gift to the general endowment or choose to invest in the College's future by funding a new or supporting an existing named scholarship, academic lecture series, and other specially designed programs.

A REUNION GIFT

Every five years, you celebrate the anniversary of your graduation. We invite you to consider making a special gift to your alma mater during your reunion year. You may choose to designate your gift to The Griffin Fund, the general endowment, scholarships, campus ministry, athletics, Logue Library, special class gift funds, or specific academic programs.

A TRIBUTE GIFT

Often in our lives someone comes along who has touched us in a very special way. You can pay tribute to that individual by making a gift in his or her honor or memory. A personalized card is sent from the College to the designated individual(s) advising them that a gift has been made on their behalf.

A GIFT OF SECURITIES

Your gift of securities to Chestnut Hill College can be sent electronically to the College's broker, Haverford Trust.

The online form to complete this process is located on our Web site at:

www.chc.edu/giftofsecurities

If you need further information or assistance, please contact Denise Costello, associate director of donor relations, at 215.248.7089 or costellod@chc.edu

A MATCHING GIFT

If you or your spouse is employed by a company with a Matching Gift Program, you can provide additional support for Chestnut Hill College by designating the College as the recipient of matching funds. To learn whether your contributions may be eligible, contact either your company's personnel office or the Office of Institutional Advancement at the College. Matching gift funds are not tax deductible for employees of matching gift companies.

In administering matching gifts, the College follows national guidelines. You may have your gift matched by your employer and receive recognition for the value of your out-of-pocket gift plus the value of the matching gift. Hence, you may make a gift of $750 that is matched with $750 and you will receive recognition for $1,500. Designation of matching gift funds is determined by each matching gift company. Funds are used for the same purpose as the employee's gift when received from corporations that so stipulate. For funds received from corporations that designate the match as unrestricted, the purpose is determined by the College.

SUPPORTING CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE

Chestnut Hill College is a tax-exempt charity, acknowledged by the Internal Revenue Service as rating 501-C-(3) status. Your contributions to Chestnut Hill College are fully tax deductible. For your convenience, you can make a gift online by visiting www.chc.edu/donate
