ANNUAL REPORT
FISCAL YEAR 2004–2005

Celebrating our 80th Anniversary
My Dear Friends & Benefactors of Chestnut Hill College,

The traditions and heritage that we hold so dear were proudly on display this year as we celebrated Chestnut Hill College’s 80th Anniversary. It was a time to reflect upon the values and beliefs that have guided us in achieving this milestone, and to ensure that these values will continue to shepherd us as we move into the bright future of the College. Of course, such a special anniversary was worthy of celebration, and nearly 600 alumnae, alumni, friends, and family joined us at the Gala Anniversary Celebration in April. This special evening at the beautiful National Constitution Center in Philadelphia reinforced the pride and honor we all feel as part of a welcoming, thriving community like Chestnut Hill College. The evening was marked by the induction of the charter members of the Libris Society, an honor bestowed upon outstanding alums who exemplify one or more of the qualities celebrated in the College’s motto of Fides • Caritas • Scientia (Faith • Charity • Knowledge).

The Gala took place during an important time in the College’s history; a year when our second coeducational class was embarking on its educational journey and the College as a whole was moving to a new level of excellence as an institution.

Because of the talent and hard work of many dedicated people, the College was once again able to increase enrollment, and welcomed a class of 250 first-year students, 40% of whom were males. Yet the numbers alone do not tell the story; we continue to attract higher-caliber students from around the United States and across the globe. SAT and ACT scores continue to increase, and the intellectual curiosity of our current students is commendable.

“With such advancement among our student body and faculty, it is fitting that the physical structure and appearance of the College continues to improve.”

Of course, these students are taught and inspired by a faculty whose dedication and enthusiasm never cease to amaze me. While our faculty as a whole is exemplary, I’d be remiss if I did not share the achievements of two faculty members. Chair of the Education Department, Carol Melvin Pate, Ed.D. received a $313,000 grant for schools participating in the Accelerated Certification of Teachers (ACT) Grant Program awarded by the Pennsylvania Department of Education. Dr. Pate also received a $45,000 grant from the School District of Philadelphia to enter a partnership with Germantown's Eleanor Emlen Elementary School. Also, Professor of History David R. Contosta, Ph.D. received the Chestnut Hill Award from the Chestnut Hill Community Association for his skills as both a writer and a teacher.

With such advancement among our student body and faculty, it is fitting that the physical structure and appearance of the College continues to improve. The Psychology Department has relocated to the DeSales Center, named after Sister Helen DeSales, SSJ, Ph.D., longtime professor and chair of the Psychology Department. To meet the demands of rising enrollment, we have also broken ground on a multi-story, 155-bed residence hall slated for fall 2006 occupancy.

Academically, we approved a new major, a B.S. in Elementary Education with certification, for the School of Continuing Studies. The School of Graduate Studies announced that the Doctoral Program in Clinical Psychology earned accreditation from the American Psychology Association (APA), marking a significant milestone for the program and the College.

These great achievements would not be possible without the support of our alumnae, alumni, friends, and family. Our past support has been amazing, yet the need for additional support in the future always remains. I urge you to be a part of the College’s tradition of donating time, talent, and treasure to ensure that Chestnut Hill College will be here and thriving for your sons, daughters, and grandchildren.

I sincerely anticipate that you will enjoy learning about more of our accomplishments in this Annual Report, and hope that they inspire you to join us, as we surge towards the College’s future.

Gratefully,

Sister Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D.
President
THE MISSION OF CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE IS TO PROVIDE STUDENTS WITH HOLISTIC EDUCATION IN AN INCLUSIVE CATHOLIC COMMUNITY MARKED BY ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE, SHARED RESPONSIBILITY, PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL GROWTH, SERVICE TO ONE ANOTHER AND TO THE GLOBAL COMMUNITY, AND CONCERN FOR THE EARTH.

Chestnut Hill College, founded by the Sisters of Saint Joseph in 1924, is an independent, Catholic institution that fosters equality through education. Faithful to its strong liberal arts tradition, Chestnut Hill College offers academic programs of excellence in the areas of undergraduate, graduate, and continuing studies.

True to its Catholic heritage, Chestnut Hill College espouses the beliefs and values inherent in the Judeo-Christian tradition while it respects the contributions made by other faith traditions in the development of the whole person. The College nurtures a sense of integrity, spirituality, and social justice in all.

The College community dedicates itself to four purposes in fulfilling this mission. It seeks:

• to provide avenues for students to achieve academic excellence and to pursue research in their major field or in interdisciplinary studies. The College encourages students to explore and experience diverse curricula and to participate in exchange programs with other institutions of higher education.

• to initiate links between the world of learning and the world of work through curricular planning, technological opportunities, and career preparation. The College guides students in applying theoretical learning through experiential education designed collaboratively by faculty and students.

• to uphold an atmosphere of communal respect in which all may clarify and articulate personal values and beliefs while exploring the ethical and moral dimensions underlying all relationships. The College encourages inter-faith opportunities by acquainting all students with Catholicism, its theology, and its Judeo-Christian roots, and by engaging in dialogue with women and men of other beliefs.

• to create local and global connections that enable students to respond to the needs of others through service-oriented enterprises. The College educates students to identify and to address issues of social justice and to work toward systemic change.

Approved by the Chestnut Hill College Board of Directors October 7, 2002.
ALUMNAE & ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

In October’s Alumnae and Alumni Association Leadership Conference, President Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D., presented the latest draft of the College’s New Strategic Plan.

Santa greeted alums and their families at the traditional Alum Family Christmas Open House, which ushered in the holiday season for all those who attended.

On March 19, 2005, the College, along with family and friends, took pause to remember all deceased alums in a special Mass of Remembrance celebrated in the Fournier Hall Chapel.

Home Coming Weekend brought generations of Griffins together for a wonderful weekend of food, fun, and games.

The Alumnae and Alumni Association raised their glasses to the Class of 2005 at the annual wine-tasting reception that officially welcomes the graduating seniors into the Association.

REUNION WEEKEND 2005 was an unforgettable success as more than 300 alums returned to campus for a fun yet relaxing weekend full of memories and laughter. A special honoree that weekend was Mary Levin Englebert ’50 who was the gracious recipient of the Alumnae and Alumni Association’s 2005 Eleanor Dolan Egan ’28 Award for Outstanding Service to Chestnut Hill College.

The former Curriculum Library was officially renamed the Regina Maria Brimmer, SSJ, Children’s Collection in honor of Regina Maria Brimmer, SSJ ’40 for her decades of dedicated service to Logue Library. President Carol Jean Vale, SSJ presented her with a commemorative plaque at the Golden Griffins brunch.

A CHEERFUL GOODBYE

In line with our recent trend of breaking records, May 7, 2005 witnessed the largest graduating class in the history of the College as 385 cheering students took the knowledge and values gained at Chestnut Hill College into the real world.

Delivering the Commencement address was distinguished theologian and retiring President and Executive Director of the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities (ACCU), Monika K. Hellwig, Ph.D., who stressed to the graduates the importance of incorporating service to the community into their lives along with their careers.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was bestowed on Monika K. Hellwig, Ph.D. and education advocate and entrepreneur Winston J. Churchill, Jr., J.D.

Retiring Associate Professor of English, Agnes Shields, SSJ, Ph.D., received the 2005 Christian R. and Mary F. Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching, along with a standing ovation from faculty and students as she accepted the award.

On April 24, much-deserved recognition was paid to those students who exemplified outstanding academic achievement in 2005. The esteemed Thomas Childers, Ph.D., professor of history at the University of Pennsylvania for over 25 years, delivered the address. The Distinguished Service Award was given to Carol Consorto, M.Ed., Interlibrary Loan Librarian.

Senior Melissa Stopyra was the recipient of the Catherine F. Sladowski, M.D. ‘66 Prize, donated by Stephanie O’Connell Siergrist, M.D. ’84.

This year’s St. Catherine Medal recipient was junior Stacie Bray.
T he 2004–2005 Lecture Series saw its most prolific year with an array of intriguing and important topics discussed, dissected, and demystified by an impressive roster of esteemed intellectuals.

In commemoration of the great theologian Karl Rahner’s posthumous 100th birthday, the Graduate Program in Holistic Spirituality hosted Leo O’Donovan, SJ, Ph.D., President Emeritus of Georgetown University and renowned Rahner scholar for three public lectures in November.

The Biology Department’s 11th Annual Biomedical Lecture Series presented two very different yet equally informative evenings. It began on November 10th, with forensic pathologist Eric Lee Vey, M.D. as the guest speaker. His topic Forensic Pathology A Dead Science, drew on his experience as autopsy service provider for the Erie, Pennsylvania medical examiner’s office.2 In April, the lecture series continued with “Evolution of Breast Surgery” by Dr. Marcia Boraas, breast surgeon and clinical associate professor of surgical oncology at the University of Pennsylvania. Prior to the lecture, Dr. Boraas engaged in an informal discussion with biology students.

On March 30th, painter Maureen Drdak offered art lovers insight into her stunning exhibit Ex Vos, a visual meditation on spiritual and psychological dualities as expressed in the subject of the sacrificial image.3

Viewing topics from all angles, The Business Department presented former white-collar criminal Walter Pavlo (right) to discuss Business Ethics and Accounting Fraud, focusing on the motivations associated with such crimes. Once a senior manager at MCI, Pavlo was caught diverting $6 million in funds, leading to a three-year prison sentence.4

On March 2nd, the College partnered with Intercultural Journeys, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting understanding among people of different cultures, presented a lovely evening of music, poetry, and art, featuring a diverse group of Jewish and Arab musicians.5

Kathleen Duffy, Ph.D., professor of physics, welcomed Dr. Richard Vladesau, professor of theology at Fordham University, whose topic, “Science and the Beauty of Creation,” aimed to show how the concept of biological evolution is compatible with the notion of the world as an intelligible and divine creation.6

On March 30th, painter Maureen Drdak offered art lovers insight into her stunning exhibit Ex Vos, a visual meditation on spiritual and psychological dualities as expressed in the subject of the sacrificial image.3
On the momentous evening of April 16, 2005, nearly 600 alumni, family, and friends converged in the light-filled Great Hall of the National Constitution Center to celebrate the College’s 80th Anniversary along with the induction of the Libris Society Charter Members. Featuring Master and Mistress of Ceremonies, Chris “Hardball” Matthews and his wife, Washington D.C. news anchor Kathleen Matthews, the black-tie gala was a smashing success with alumni traveling from 15 states to attend. The event did not go unnoticed by the media, as coverage of the party aired on all three of Philadelphia’s major television news programs. The Gala, which was one of the most successful events the College has ever sponsored, raised more than $160,000. A wonderful spirit of pride in the College and its graduates pervaded the entire evening.

Dr. Rocco and Barbara D’Iorio Martino ’60 were the 80th Anniversary sponsors of the event.1

Marianne McGurk Wallaesa ’87, was the Gala Chairperson as well as a major sponsor.2

On June 11, 2005, at the Kimmel Center for the Performing Arts, Broadway star Colm Wilkinson, known for originating the role of Jean Valjean in Les Misérables, entertained concert-goers with original songs as well as classics from his Broadway musicals. The memorable evening was part of the Sister Marie Therese Cogan, SSJ Memorial Visiting Artist Series, made possible by an endowment established through the efforts of Mr. & Mrs. Larry Genuardi.3

The needs of a private college in today's world are many. As a small institution dedicated to teaching, Chestnut Hill College is largely tuition driven. Although tuition for undergraduates at Chestnut Hill College exceeds $29,000, it provides only 60 percent of the real cost of educating a student. To maintain its tradition of excellence in education, Chestnut Hill College seeks to make up the difference through contributions.

The College receives no financial assistance from the Catholic Church or the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, and funding from state or federal agencies is given only for specific projects or programs. Contributions from alumni, parents and other friends to any of the funds listed below are investments in the College's future and help assure that a Chestnut Hill College education will be available for future generations.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR PROVIDING SUPPORT

ANNUAL FUND

To supplement the operating budget, the College seeks contributions each year from alumni, parents, and other friends. These gifts are used to help with general expenses, providing assistance with everything from library acquisitions and faculty salaries to utilities and instructional supplies. Because this fund is critical to day-to-day operations, the College stresses its importance to all donors, asking that they continue to support the Annual Fund in addition to any other areas of specific interest.

REUNION GIVING FUND

Every five years, as they celebrate the anniversary of their graduation, classes are asked to consider undertaking a special fundraising effort. Some have selected specific physical plant projects, such as renovation of the alcoves in St. Joseph Hall or restoration of the Rotunda or renovation of the residence halls. Others have elected to establish a scholarship fund or underwrite landscaping needs. These special projects have helped the College with the extraordinary expenses of maintaining a large, historic, aging physical plant and providing financial assistance for deserving students.

ENDOWMENT FUND

Contributions to the institution's endowment are invested and only the income is used each year. Donors have chosen to invest in the College's future by endowing scholarships, lecture series, and other specially designed programs.

CAPITAL GIFTS INITIATIVE

The College seeks funds for several specific renovation and construction projects. The projects were identified through a careful analysis of the campus as part of a site and facilities master plan and have been determined by the Board of Directors to be essential to the College's future growth.

CHARITABLE GIFT OPTIONS

Chestnut Hill College is a tax-exempt charity, acknowledged by the Internal Revenue Service as a 501(c)(3) status. All contributions to Chestnut Hill College are fully tax deductible and may be given using any of the following methods:

OUTRIGHT GIFTS

• Gifts of cash may be given for any purpose. Checks or money orders should be made payable to Chestnut Hill College. Funds may also be transferred directly to the College’s account via wire transfer.

• Gifts of appreciated marketable securities may be transferred to Chestnut Hill College for any purpose. Securities may be given via electronic transfer or by re-registering the shares in the name of Chestnut Hill College and mailing the certificates to the Vice President for Institutional Advancement. To avoid paying capital gains tax, the donor should give the shares directly to the College. As a tax-exempt organization, the College is able to sell the shares without paying tax. The applicable tax deduction is based upon the value of the shares on the date they are given to the College.

• Paid-up life insurance policies, real estate, gifts-in-kind, appreciated property, closely held stock, and other holdings may be given based upon their valuation and acceptance by the College.

For specific information about electronic transfers, please contact Lorraine Aurely, Vice President of Institutional Advancement, at 215.248.7103 or e-mail aurelyl@chc.edu.

LIFE INCOME GIFTS

Life income gifts may be funded through outright contributions or pledges of a variety of assets, including those mentioned above. Life income options also include:

• Charitable remainder trust—separately managed trust funds that provide income to the donor for life. These may be established as annuity trusts, which provide a fixed amount of income, or as unitrusts, which provide income based upon a percentage of trust assets.

• Charitable gift annuity—offers a way to make a meaningful and major gift while benefiting the donor. This is an agreement between an individual and the College in which the donor transfers assets to Chestnut Hill College and receives fixed payments for the rest of her/his lifetime and/or the lifetime of another person.

• Deferred gift annuity—like a charitable gift annuity, a deferred annuity is a type of insurance contract that provides a fixed income. With this method, however, a donor contributes currently but does not begin receiving income until a later date.

GIVING BY PURPOSE

Because Chestnut Hill College and the Sisters of St. Joseph are separate corporations and have different fundraising needs, there are two separate Development Offices. Contributions are not shared by these distinct entities. Donations to the College for its various needs are managed by the College’s Development Office, a part of the Office of Institutional Advancement.

OTHER

Tribute Fund

Donors can support Chestnut Hill College by honoring or memorializing a special person or event. Tribute cards are sent advising the designated individual(s) of the gift but not the amount. Forms are available from the Office of Institutional Advancement; please call 215.248.7137.

Endowed Scholarships

Chestnut Hill College reserves the right to choose the recipient and to award the grant.

CHESTNUT HILL COLLEGE

FULL-TUITION AWARDS

For a full-tuition Chestnut Hill College grant, a donation of $600,000 is needed. This covers tuition and fees for one student for four years. At the end of four years, the money will have been fully dispersed in tuition grants and administrative expenses. Chestnut Hill College reserves the right to choose the recipient and to award the grant. Donors may pledge to pay in increments of $20,000 per year for four years.

PARTIAL-TUITION AWARDS

For a partial-tuition Chestnut Hill College grant, a donation of $10,000 is needed. This covers tuition and fees for one student for four years. At the end of four years, the money will have been fully dispersed in tuition grants and administrative expenses. Chestnut Hill College reserves the right to choose the recipient and to award the grant. Donors may pledge to pay over a period of four years.

MATCHING GIFTS POLICIES

Chestnut Hill College welcomes matching gifts and encourages donors or their spouses who work for matching gift companies to apply for such donations. In administering matching gifts, the College follows national guidelines. Designation of matching gift funds is determined by each matching gift company. Funds are used for the same purpose as the employee’s gift when received from corporations that so stipulate. For funds received from corporations that designate the match as unrestricted, the purpose is determined by the College. Recognition of matching gifts is determined as follows:

The match is the gift of the corporation. Companies are recognized in a special section of the Annual Report.

The names of individuals who obtain matching gifts are listed in the Annual Report and annotated to show that the College was designated to receive a match. The amount of the matching gift is not used to determine the individual’s level of support; membership in gift clubs is determined only from the amount contributed directly by the individual donor.
Members of the Fleur de Lis Society were personally thanked by Carol Jean Vale, SSJ, Ph.D. at a wine-tasting reception at the College on September 25, 2005.
