
The New York Times

inCOLLEGE

Thanks to NYTimes.com Academic Passes, you have full access to the extensive news, multimedia and archives of The New York Times without needing your own subscription. Each time you claim a pass you get 24 consecutive hours of access to NYTimes.com.*

TO CLAIM YOUR FIRST PASS:

- Visit nytimes.com/passes
- Click on REGISTER
- Create a free NYTimes.com account using your school e-mail address
- Check your e-mail and click on the link in the NYTimes confirmation e-mail. You're done!

TO CLAIM SUBSEQUENT PASSES:

- Visit nytimes.com/passes
- If you logged out of NYTimes.com, log in using your school e-mail address

HINT: Bookmark nytimes.com/passes. If you don't log out of your NYTimes.com account, you can just click on the bookmark to claim a new pass.

TO DOWNLOAD THE FREE NYTIMES SMARTPHONE APPS:

Visit nytimes.com/mobile

HAVING A PROBLEM?

If the confirmation e-mail didn't arrive, check your spam folder. If it isn't there, send an e-mail to edu@nytimes.com from your school e-mail address to request confirmation.

You have to visit nytimes.com/passes each time you want to claim a pass. You can't claim a pass just by being logged in to NYTimes.com with your school e-mail address.

Other questions?

Visit nytimes.com/passes and look under Frequently Asked Questions.

*You must have a valid e-mail address from a participating school. Academic Passes do not include e-reader editions, Premium Crosswords or The New York Times Crosswords apps. Mobile apps are not supported on all devices. Other restrictions may apply. All NYTimes.com Pass users receive access to The New York Times archives, including five free articles from 1923 through 1986 for their 24 hours of access. Pass users have unlimited access to archived articles outside the 1923–1986 date range during their 24 hours of access. Academic Passes are available only during the time that our school's New York Times program is active.

13-0585