Themed Living Communities

Themed Living Communities (TLC) simply allows students with certain commonalities and interests to live in the same area so they can further share and explore their interests. Programming efforts surround the theme and faculty and/or staff participate in social & educational events. If you wish to apply for a TLC, fill out the application on the other side this form!

Is housing selection different for a TLC?

Yep. If you apply, you will be contacted by the Office of Residence Life. Everyone who is accepted for the community will be asked to find roommates/suitemates and then you will be assigned to that floor/area. You will get to submit a preference for which room you’d like. This will happen prior to Housing Selection Day.

Honors

To live in the upper-class Honors Community, you must be in the Honors Program. This community will be located in Fitzsimmons Hall. Roommates and suitemates can be pre-selected by students after acceptance. Programming efforts will be supported by the Honors Department.

The Dear Neighbor

This community is for students who actively participate in community service or who participated in the LENS program. Regardless of the service you do or where you do it, this community will bring together students who value service as a part of their lives. Programming will have an emphasis on service including outreach and reflection. This community will be located in Fitzsimmons Hall and roommates and suitemates can be pre-selected after acceptance.

Care for the Earth

This community of students will share a passion for “green” efforts and sustainability issues. Sugarloaf history and restoration include much focus on care for the environment and because of its location, this community will be housed at Sugarloaf. With walking trails and much green space to work with, programming will be diverse. The Earth Center on campus will partner with students for programming and other opportunities on campus and in the community.

Music, Art & Stage

This community of students are engaged in music, drama, art and/or performing arts. Students will expand and explore interests and involvement in the arts. If you have an appreciation for the arts, then this is the place for you. This will be located in Fitzsimmons Hall.

Koinonia Community

This community is for students who desire to live together intentionally cultivating an awareness of the spirituality of finding God in all things. This community would include time to gather for prayer and Sharing the State of the Heart. This location of this community will be determined based on the number of applicants. Roommates and suitemates can be pre-selected by students after acceptance. Programming efforts will be supported by the Office of Campus Ministry.
